

LOVE NOTES MAY DECIDE CASE

250 Produced by Accused Slayer of Miss Lavoy

OFFERED AS DEFENSE AID

Excerpts From Some of Letters Are Made Public

(By ALEXANDER HERMAN)

FREEPORT, N. Y., (Special).—A tale of love at first sight, disillusionment, and tragedy is revealed in a packet of 250 letters which, attorneys say, were written by Edythe E. Lavoy, a pretty 22-year-old school teacher.

She is dead—with a bullet thru her right temple. William Creasy, of Covington, Ky., her former lover is in jail. He was with her at the time of the shooting. He says it was suicide. But the police say he killed her.

Creasy was a job in the navy when he met Miss Lavoy. Her brother was Creasy's shipmate. Creasy was 21—well built and striking in uniform. Miss Lavoy was 18— attractive and a devoted worshipper.

After a courtship they became engaged. She left her home at Tupper Lake, N. Y., and came to Freeport to teach school. He went back to Kentucky.

They wrote to each other regularly. Dashes meant "sweetheart." Here are excerpts from some of the letters, which Creasy offers in evidence to clear himself:

Jan. 12, 1921.
My dear Sweetheart: Many, many thanks for your kindness and thoughtfulness in sending me that beautiful primrose. Just simply love it. But more still I—U No. Ha, ha!

Billie, you are a darling boy to always be springing surprises on me. Words cannot express my appreciation.

I hope you sleep well tonight. I know I shall. I feel we both need it, eh what? I sure missed you when I came home tonight. The room seemed so empty without you. Bidding you a kind goodnight, happy dreams, and with all my love, Your JODY (xx)

March 16, 1921.
Hello—Billie: Say, how was it I never knew when your birthday was? So glad I know now. Am I right in saying it was your 27th birthday?

Next year, you may bet, I'll remember it (that is, if we are still the same old—s).

Billie, I was at a loss as to what to send you. But I sent you a box of cigars last night.

Just think, I leave for home—home, sweet home—a day after tomorrow. Oh, Billie, you can imagine how happy you'll be!

Yes, dear boy, I'm having a lovely time. But you are always first and foremost in my thoughts.

Yours till the moon burns out of all, ME (xx)
Kissed by Me.

But then came a break. The girl found out that her lover had been married before and that his wife had divorced him. She returned her ring. Creasy came east to explain. He was here last April. At that time one of Miss Lavoy's friends says she took a revolver away from him. After a week Creasy went back home and the young school teacher resumed her letters. But she no longer used any dashes.

May 9, 1922
Darling Boy: Feeling better today, so will write you a long letter. Believe me, darling, I am not myself at all—haven't been for some time. And judging by your letters, I guess you are not yourself, either. Billie, dear, guess that's all we're on earth for—trouble. I have never had such troubles before.

That was good advice you gave me about falling in love. No, Billie, don't worry about me falling in love. Guess I am not. But I that way. Sometimes I wish I could. But I have given up hope. I thought I was once, you know, Billie, but I woke up and found it was only a dream.

Billie, dear, as for that gun, I do not want it and you know it, darling boy. However, being that you want it so badly, I sure will send it to you tonight, as I have it all packed up and you have real need for it.

Good-bye, darling boy. I'll write real soon. Bye, bye, honey. ME (xx)

May 12, 1922.
(Special delivery)
Dear Billie: You said you didn't want me to write any more, so am just saying good-night. ME (x)

May 22, 1922.
Dear Billie: Your letter just received. This has been a wonderful day. Oh, I have been so nervous today. I am completely unstrung. Good night and happy dreams. ME (x)

May 23, 1922.
Darling Boy: Would it make you feel any better to really know I was lonesome for you tonight?

I don't know how I can wait six weeks longer to go home. It seems I can't live till then.

Will kiss your picture good-night and God help us both. Oh, how I wish I could die, but I can't go until God wants me.

Lonesome and heartbroken. ME (xx)

GAL TWO—LOVE NOTES
June 4, 1922.
Darling Boy: This sure has been a lovely day, but, oh, so warm! I was so glad to get home again. Dear, but I do get so tired of living sometimes. It seems as though we are here only for trouble. My head aches like a jumping toadache.

It never rains but what it pours, oh, Billie dear?
Good night, darling boy, and happy dreams. ME (xx)

June 7, 1922.
Darling Boy: So sorry, Billie, you are not feeling well, but, of course, you must look at things in a differ-

PRaise YOUR WIFE—AND SAVE THE DRESSMAKERS' BILLS

HARRY COLLINS, WHO DESIGNS MRS. HARDING'S GOWNS AND SKETCHES ILLUSTRATING HIS ADVICE TO HUSBANDS.

By MARIAN HALE
"The greatest cause of extravagance on the part of the American wife is—the American husband!"

So says Harry Collins, one of America's foremost style authorities, who costumes Mrs. Warren G. Harding.

"More compliments, fewer bills," he says.

"When a wife appears to advantage in a certain gown the husband should tell her about it.

"As long as a man is more interested in what his wife spends than in what she gets, the wife will be extravagant in trying to find the one gown that will cause him to say, 'My dear, you look charming.'"

"And when she does find the gown she likes, she will love to wear it. She will make fewer mistakes and spend less money."

I asked the designer whether he believed Mrs. Harding exerted any great influence on current styles.

"Mrs. Harding could well set a standard for intelligent dressing," he replied.

"But she is by no means an exploiter of fads or fashions as French queens or Roman empresses. To ent light. It is just a matter of will power, Billie."

Certainly, acting as we have won't bring us anywhere but to some insane asylums.

Oh, how I wish I were dead, so many times! But let God's will be done. I mean to do my work in this world so I shall not fear death when God sees fit to take me.

Billie, so glad you are having such lovely times and that you are learning to love Miss—so much. Billie, I know you could learn to love someone else.

How are you and your married lady friend coming along? Do you love her as much as ever, too? It is nice that you can.

Oh, by the way, have you ever seen "Broken Blossoms"? It is very good. I saw it last night and oh, how I enjoyed it!

So long, darling boy. ME (xx)

June 15, 1922.
My darling Billie. I am standing in back of the room. I don't want the children to know that I am writing a letter.

What they don't know won't hurt them.

Then Creasy decided to come on East. He arrived on a Thursday. The next day Miss Lavoy started to write a letter home:

June 23, 1922.
Dear Everybody: This sure has been a busy week and it will seem good when everything is done. All my "cheerups" made their grade.

It never rains but what it pours. Who should have popped in this week but Billie! That—"oh, how I just hate him. Believe me, he got me a cold reception."

That letter was never finished. It was found on the desk—after Miss Lavoy had been shot—by the revolver that she gave back to Billie! Slain or suicide?

The jury will read the letters and decide.

AUTO THIEF IS KILLED WHEN CAR IS WRECKED
PORTSMOUTH, O.—Killed in a car he had helped to steal only a few hours previous, was the fate of Delbert Jenkins, 17, who was found dead this morning under a heavy touring car owned by Dr. Harry Schurman of this city. A brother of the victim, Melvin Jenkins, 38, and Jack Killeen, 18, other occupants of the car, escaped without injuries. Both were placed under arrest.

The touring car was stolen from in front of the Schurman hospital about midnight Sunday and was wrecked on the boulevard about four o'clock this morning when it went down a 15-foot embankment and turned over twice. Killian says he was driving the car.

AMERICAN SLAIN BY MEXICANS

Woman's Life Taken by Bandits In Oil Fields

REPRESENTATIONS MADE

Gangs Chased by Troops of Southern Republic

WASHINGTON — (Associated Press).—Mrs. Thomas Cheney, the Mexican-born wife of an American employe by an American company operating in the Tampico oil region, was killed by Mexican bandits June 29, when she recognized their leader, according to a report today to the state department from Consul Shaw, at Tampico.

As Mrs. Cheney is an American citizen by marriage the department made immediate representations to the Mexico City government.

BANDITS CHASED
TAMPICO — (United Press).—Federal troops were hot on the trail of General Gorazave, bandit and rebel leader today.

Soldiers sent into the Tampico district by President Obregon following protest of the state department of the United States following the action of Gorazave in holding 50 Americans prisoners at the Cortez Oil Company's plant, and eight Americans and 13 others at the Piccola Oil camp, have routed a portion of the band at El Trueno, according to reports received here.

Reports stated that five bandits were slain and 50 houses and many guns abandoned. Troops under Colonel Silva, followed up the attack in the hope of capturing Gorazave and the remainder of his outlaw.

There are at least one thousand federal troops on duty here. Some came from the South and others landed at Vera Cruz.

According to best information the bandit leader has not yet made good his boast of returning to the Cortez plant to collect 30,000 pesos ransom.

Gorazave took possession of the Cortez Company's properties eight days ago and said he would return July 2 for the ransom. In a written document he presented to Cortez officials the bandits said he wanted the money to finance the revolution, which would reestablish the government of 1857.

And here are the two records upon which the decision is based: His war record: Aaronsohn, aged 20, was student at the Hebrew Union College, Cincinnati, when America "got in." As such he was entitled to draft exemption. He insisted on entering the combatant class. One September morning in the Argonne a bursting shell tore away both of his eyes. He was left in a ditch to be later picked up and carried five miles behind the lines to a hospital.

His peace record: Aaronsohn returned to the America he would never again see. As the there had been no tragic interlude, he took up his studies where he had left off. He continued to win high honors; he will be ordained a rabbi in 1933.

In the meantime he has been preaching at Hamilton, O. But also he has been helping scores of his buddies to carry on; he has been fighting in the No-Man's-Land of red tape and government neglect for better conditions; he has been a constant champion of his comrades.

He does not wish a temporary wave of sentimentality to be raised by his own condition, or that of his maimed buddies. He wants a sense of justice to be raised that will make America pay over a worth-while and just program.

"World peace," is what he pleads for also, that that sacrifice may not have been made in vain.

COOL WEATHER WILL CONTINUE
Rains of Sunday brought with them a distinct drop in temperature compared with that registered Saturday. Indications are that the cool wave will continue for a few days. Prediction for Monday night is: Fair and somewhat cooler.

For Tuesday, the weatherman declares fair weather and moderate temperature will hold sway.

The cool spell is welcomed by Lima, Saturday was perhaps one of the most uncomfortable days experienced since warm weather began and the weather Sunday evening was also very humid.

VETS NAME "GREATEST PEACE HERO"

MICHAEL AARONSOHN, BLIND CHAPLAIN, WITH HIS SISTER, DORA, WHO IS THE EYE THRU WHICH HE SEES.

(By GENE COHN)
SAN FRANCISCO — (Special).—The greatest "peace hero!"

Out of the ranks of maimed men, whose valorous deeds won for them a place in the "living hall of fame" at the disabled veterans convention, just over, who has "carried on" most courageously and with best results since the armistice.

The verdict is: "Michael Aaronsohn, the blind chaplain of the vets—Fighting Mike from Cincinnati!"

Before leaving his post as vet commander, Judge Robert S. Marx gave to Aaronsohn this second honor.

And here are the two records upon which the decision is based: His war record: Aaronsohn, aged 20, was student at the Hebrew Union College, Cincinnati, when America "got in." As such he was entitled to draft exemption. He insisted on entering the combatant class. One September morning in the Argonne a bursting shell tore

MANY ARE ENDANGERED AS SKYROCKET HISSES THRU MANHATTAN CAFE CROWD
Finding its way thru a crowd of men who stood before the soft drink bar in the Manhattan cafe on W. High-st., a sky rocket fired by a practical joker Saturday night, shot thru the plaster wall to the rear of the long room and spent its fury trying to drive its way into the kitchen.

Ordinarily, the instrument of celebration would have been aimed up in the air, out into the open, but the chap who set it going in the Manhattan must have desired a little excitement. He seemed to have aimed it ever the heads of the men in the room.

It swished along, miraculously missing every person in the room until it struck the wall at the rear. No one was hurt. The damage amounted to a bit of plaster being knocked off the wall above the door to the kitchen.

MINE PARLEY IN DEADLOCK

Washington Peace Meet Adjourns Till Next Monday

HARDING MAY TAKE HAND

Expected to Make Proposal at Coming Session

WASHINGTON. — (Associated Press).—Deadlocked over a basis of negotiating a settlement of the bituminous coal strike, the conference of operators and United Mine Workers' officials accepted the suggestion of government representatives today and adjourned until next Monday.

When adjournment was taken at 1:10 o'clock this afternoon, Secretary of Labor Davis, one of the government representatives, said that no agreement had been reached, no committee to continue the discussions in the meantime appointed and no specific program for the future discussed, although many different plans had been proposed.

Asked as to the indications for a successful ultimate outcome of the conference which assembled Saturday at the behest of President Harding, Mr. Davis said, with the agreement of Secretary Hoover, the other government representative, "that as long as we hold them together there is hope."

PROPOSAL EXPECTED
The government so far as could be learned did not present any proposition as to a basis of ending the strike which has been in progress since April 1, but there was a belief in some quarters that when the conference reassembles Monday President Harding, who then will have returned from his Ohio trip, will lay a government proposal before the conferees.

The adjournment, it was said by government circles, will allow both the operators and the miners an opportunity to talk with their colleagues in the field.

John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers, will remain in Washington, and it is considered likely that Alfred M. Ogle, president of the National Coal Association and head of the operators, will do likewise.

SUIT TO NULLIFY PROPERTY SALE
Move to Defeat Judgment Charged to Delphos People
Suit to nullify sale of property, alleged to have been made for purpose of defeating a court judgment, was filed in common pleas court Monday by Martha W. Jones, against David Jettinoff, his wife Olga and son Rudolph, all of Delphos.

March 20, the plaintiff states she was awarded a cognovit judgment of $2,044.33 in Allen-co common pleas court and execution was awarded.

Sheriffs of three counties vainly endeavored to find property to seize to satisfy the judgment, it is stated.

The plaintiff sets out in her petition that shortly prior to the awarding of the judgment, Jettinoff was owner of considerable property. He sold the same to his son for an indicated consideration of $14,100, it is charged.

The transfer is attacked and the court is asked to set aside, so that the plaintiff may collect the amount awarded her.

INDEPENDENCE DAY

"WHEN, in the course of human events," reads the preamble of the Declaration of Independence which was adopted unanimously in Congress July 4, 1776, at Philadelphia, and which was made the basis of the setting aside of the fourth day of July each year, to be observed in a patriotic manner.

All over the land tomorrow this immortal document will be read by public officials before assemblies of Americans, stirring orations will feature celebrations in honor of the day and for the time being the minds of the people will revert back to the days of war, when America was periled.

Today there is peace and tranquility. Americans have much to be thankful for. Ours is a land of freedom and plenty, of order and security. Its government is founded on sterling patriotism, justice and equality.

For the support of the declaration of Independence, the representatives of the colonies with a firm reliance on the protection of Divine Providence, mutually pledged to each other their lives, their fortunes and their sacred honor. That pledge has been well kept.

The declaration, one of the most solemn ever adopted by men, is the rock of Gibraltar on which America's governmental institutions have been built. July 4th is a day of rejoicing; a time for outbursts of patriotic fervor; of renewing fealty and loyalty to the constitution and the flag.

America is united, for common protection, in peace as well as in war.

THE UNKNOWN

WHEN annoyed by summer heat, you scowl at the sun, uncomfortably conscious of its dictatorship over life on earth.

Up there on the sun, the hydrogen flames are so giant that some of them rise to a height of 500,000 miles.

The heat of these flames is about 7000 degrees centigrade. That is about 70 times the amount of heat necessary to make water boil.

One of these flames is bad enough. You get an idea of the combined terrific heat traveling toward us when you stop to think that these giant flames are all over the sun's surface and that the sun's diameter is 860,000 miles, against the earth's diameter of about 8000 miles.

With powerful telescope and spectroscopic, scientists are uncovering knowledge about the sun—from the safe distance of 92,830,000 miles.

The human brain is getting somewhere when it can ferret out information at that stupendous distance.

WHILE one branch of scientists investigates the far-off, another branch finds equally marvelous things here on earth, so small that the human eye cannot see them.

At Nela Park laboratories, Cleveland, boscina bugs—so small that 1000 of them in a straight line measure only one inch—are placed on a lantern slide. Magnified by microscopic lenses and projected on a movie screen, these boscina organisms are observed viciously attacking each other.

Other bugs, only a twenty-fifth of an inch long, are flashed on the movie screen and shown cuddling their young.

Another minute form of life is shown feeding itself with a sort of paddle-wheel under its eyebrows.

WHAT science sees thru its super-microscopes and telescopes today seems wonderful. And it is. But it is crude and primitive to the discoveries that will be made by future scientists.

ONE HUNDRED AND FORTY-SIX YEARS YOUNG TOMORROW

tive to the discoveries that will be made by future scientists.

Nature is like a candy box with millions of layers. So far, we have uncovered only the first layer. Other layers will be uncovered, each more wonderful than the one before.

Usually, when science finds something new, it is regarded merely as an interesting laboratory experiment. Later it inevitably is put to practical use.

Thus each one of these discoveries affects man's ways of living. The future of human life is unguessable, but is certainly will be bizarre, utterly unlike the lives we live today.

Mentally we are barbarians, slowly moving toward knowledge. Compared with our far-off descendants we are like oysters compared with the best human brains of today, tho vanity makes this hard to believe or admit.

CHANGING YOUTH

THE house in which William Taylor Adams wrote many of his "Oliver Optic" books is being torn down at Dorchester, Mass. to make way for a garage.

This will open up the memory of many old-timers and recall the days when they "look out" Rollo, Oliver Optic, G. A. Henty, Elsie Dinsmore and the Prudy Books from the Sunday school circulating library.

The times have changed. Youth in the old days read adventure based on the outdoor life of a world that was far from conquered commercially and geographically. Today youth finds most of its adventure in science.

BY BERTON BRALEY

BIRTHDAY OF A NATION

Fourth of July! It's a day inspirational

Which we can celebrate loud as we will.

Banners and cannon and speeches sensational

Serve to express only part of our thrill!

Tho we may show a bombastic piety,

We have a reason, you cannot deny;

This is the day of a nation's nativity,

Fourth of July!

Hoast? Why, of course, we do!

Shout till we're hoarse, we do.

Turn out in force, we do,

Lights beating high!

Fire-crackers hurled about,

Sky-rockets whirled about,

We'll tell the world about

Fourth of July!

What if we seem to be cheering pertervards?

This is SOME COUNTRY, we know for a fact!

So, on this day, we shall show unreservedly

Just how we feel by the way we act.

Proud? Sure we are, and we make it no mystery.

Read it, in letters of fire, on the sky:

This is the best of dates in our history.

Fourth of July!

Come, be by choice a bit

Noisy! Rejoice a bit!

Lift up your voice a bit.

Do not be shy!

SOME COUNTRY! Say it!

Tell 'em the way it is,

YOU know what day it is—

Fourth of July!

Common Sense Ways to Keep Well

HOW TO KEEP COOL

The coolest person in hot weather is he who uses common sense in helping his body in a normal way.

Nature provided us with a heating and cooling system. The temperature regulating system of the body is a very delicate piece of machinery and cannot function satisfactorily if over driven or over loaded with fuel.

When the weather is hot, the surface blood vessels are expanded and the sweat glands bathe the body with perspiration. By its evaporation the skin is cooled, the rapidity and degree of cooling depending on the rate that the air is moving. Drafts are harmless in summer unless the cooling of the body is too rapid. A fan is as useful to the human machine as it is to an automobile.

A daily bath keeps the pores open. Light clothing aids in rapid evaporation of the perspiration. Some exercise is essential, but over exertion in the hot sun should be avoided.

The matter of diet is one of importance. Fats, sugars and starches are heat producing. Nature gave us green vegetables and fruits in abundance during the summer. Over-eating overloads the system. Eat moderately of a varied diet.

Food spoils more quickly in hot weather on account of the rapid growth of the organisms of decay. Be careful when away from home that food served is not tainted and that fruit is not over ripe.

Plenty of cold water is essential. An extra amount is needed in summer on account of the activity of the sweat glands.

Plenty of sleep will aid in keeping one strong and well during the hot period.

Met and in discourse with Clem Baxter back to the days when he loaned me $300, on a gambler's chance. But in 15 months from the hour I made the 30-day loan, did pay him interest and all. By a renewal. So, spoke to C. C. Collins, the educator and farmer; and all the morning busied with this and that, to no avail.

To lunch with Bro. John at The Argonne, speaking in fine friendliness with M'seur Frank Harman and Mine Host Haefner. A fine menu of celery soup, beef, just right; snowflake potatoes, with corn stewed, and a lettuce salad. For the sweet, an apple pie, with cheese. Many from the suburbs also there dining, the women with bundles marked Blum, Delsel, Feldman, Carter & Carroll, Leader, Crawford and other noble business houses so favorably known for the many miles 'round. And one sweet Miss carried a carton of Calvert's, albeit could not discern the variety of Burbanks she had there-in.

Phone from Sir Jawn Blattenberg conveying to me that Lady Ann was in fine fettle, and would receive me on the morrow; Lady Helen doing splendidly. Bot a tag, guess it was for the shopmen's strike or the Nights of Loyalty. In the afternoon, called for my bank balances, but there weren't any in the book. Which contained a slip about the frost or the dew that periodically permeates the greasy banking houses. My record shows more dew than frost.

Now, newly to come the Fourth of July, which my wife, poor wretch, wishes to celebrate in a back to woods stork roast in the woods around Ft. Amanda. I the cooking to do and she to be the pseudo-Indian high priestess. And the only way to escape, to self-inflict a puncture on the runabit the morn of the pageant. Which I must remember to do.

So, to the office and to my scribbling, which is seeming hard this day. Whence came a cable from Dee saying she had landed at Mt. Vesuvius and then on her way to take a peep at Pompeii. She signed no name saying 37 1-2c and showing her education as an economist.

In the evening, dined on famille, a duetta nowadays; and in discourse told my wife all the interesting things of the day. And of the greave people I had seen. With prospects of securing an invitation to join the G. A. R. for me, and the D. A. R. for her. For which she gave me noble thanks, and asked what uniform it would require.

And so to bed, promising myself a tub in the morning, which would overlap the week but 12 hours.

FROM INFANCY TO LIFE'S INSET TANLAC BRINGS HEALTH AND HAPPINESS

Dr. Tanlac's Blessings Are Open to All, and seems Inexcusable for Anyone to Remain in a Miserable Weakling When this Great Medicine Is Restoring Vigor and Abundant Vital Energy to Hundreds All Around Them Every Day.

The foundation of health is laid during the early years of life.

From the tiny toddler with foot hesitantly placed upon the bottom-most step, to the venerable grandfather at the top of life's stairway, Tanlac is praised by all for the vigor and abundant vital energy with which it blesses each step.

The earlier in life that one begins the use of Tanlac, the better equipped will that person be to cope with the vicissitudes of this existence. By preparing the digestive system of the youngster, Tanlac smooths the path and insures health and strength through all the years ahead. We cannot forget that the foundation for good health in our advanced years is laid during the early years of life.

How sad it is to see men and women by the thousands going through life with less than half of the vigorous health, strength and capacity for the enjoyment that is their birthright. And how much sadder it is to know that all their sufferings and lack of happiness are due to their own failure to take advantage of the blessing that Nature offers to all. When one looks upon a weak, worn out, faded, devitalized man or woman and reflects that all this may be readily and satisfactorily changed merely by the use of Tanlac, if only that poor mortal knew it, one feels like spreading the message of hope and joy that Tanlac brings in the sharpest and clearest handwriting that none may overlook!

Are YOU as strong and healthy as you should be? Have you that abundant vital energy that enables you to laugh at disease and to overcome the over-present obstacles in the path of your happiness? Does your food give up to you its rich stores of vitality, or does it pass through your digestive system without supplying you with much beyond the poisons formed through its decomposition?

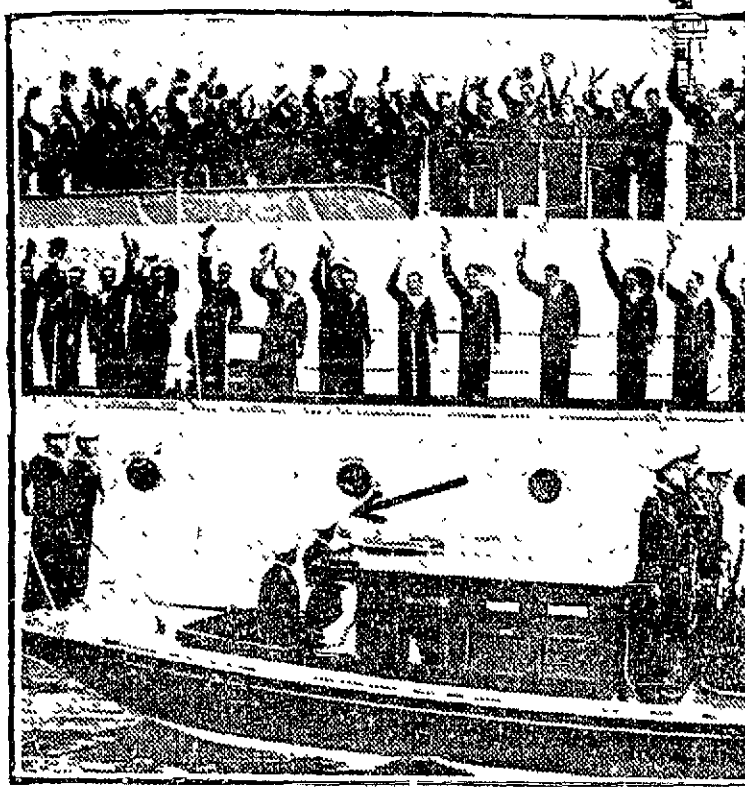

Take this under your serious consideration, and answer these questions for yourself.

Then, if the answers are unsatisfactory, go to any druggist and purchase a bottle of Tanlac, and you, too, may become strong and healthy with the energy and vitality to accomplish your desires, just as so many thousands of others have publicly testified were the results they obtained from taking Tanlac.

Tanlac is sold by all good druggists.

LEARN A WORD A DAY

TODAY'S word is BIZARRE.

It is pronounced bizarre, the B as the first e in event, and the Z as the a in arm. Accent is on the second syllable.

It means—odd, fantastic, or queer.

It comes from the French, whence it is believed to have been borrowed from the Spanish bizarro, meaning liberal or gallant. Probably it is of Basque origin.

It is used like this—The bright colors of his clothing gave him a bizarre appearance.

MISS CHRISTEN'S DAILY PAGE OF CLUB AND SOCIETY EVENTS TO BE BEAUTIFUL BE 30—THAT'S WRITER'S ADVICE

BY MARIAN HALE.

"A woman's real beauty does not begin to show until she is 30!" This is the opinion of Anzia Yezierska.

She has looked squarely at life from the eyes of a sweatshop worker, a factory hand, a dishwasher, a struggling journalist, and now with the complex vision and understanding of a successful writer.

"All women want to be beautiful themselves and to create beauty around them," she explains.

"When I came to this country from Russia, penniless, uneducated and friendless, I lived with the poorest workers—a worker myself, often without food and wretchedly clad. But there was never a time when I did not hunger more for beauty than for bread."

"But as I suffered and learned, I came to realize that one couldn't go out and get beauty ready-made. It was something you had to develop from within."

"Beautiful clothes, money, fine surroundings are all quite empty unless one develops an inner something. The beauty of youth is natural, but it is only a mask one wears while developing the soul."

"To be beautiful at 20 is purely accidental. To be so at 60 is character."

"A woman is beautiful only when she has suffered and lived and learned to think—when she has the courage to make her own decisions and be herself. Then she is an individual. Individuality is real."

"Then a woman has generated a force which shines thru her eyes, and illuminates her face—something more dynamic and electric than mere prettiness—something which lives and which attracts."

"To me the flapper is not beautiful. She lacks illusions and faith. She has the soul of a middle-aged woman. But when she casts aside her mask and becomes herself who knows what she may be?" Anzia Yezierska is a striking example of the type of beauty she says may be developed. In repose her face may truthfully be called plain. Animation and interest transform her and lend her rare charm. In her latest book, "Salome of the Tenements," Madame Yezierska tells the story of a poor girl, driven by a r... Hungry Hearts," which brought her fame, has just been made into a motion picture.

SUSIE SMART'S ADVICE

Dear Miss Smart: I am a young girl of 15 and have been in love with a young man of 21. I love him very much and he says he loves me, but I am hesitating to do his bidding. He is very indifferent at times, especially when he asks me to go somewhere with him. He makes me feel just as if he were asking me only because we have been friends for so long and seems loath to break it. At other times he is wonderful. I cannot bear to think of giving him up. Do you think his love is wanting? BLUES

ONE of the surest signs of departing love is boredom and when a girl discovers that her presence creates such an atmosphere, it is time to withdraw herself. It may be hard to give him up, but I am sure it would be better all around.

Dear Miss Smart: Recently I purchased a white wool sweater and after washing it, I find it has stretched considerably. Is there anything I can do to get it back into shape again? IQNA.

Rewash your sweater with suitable soap. Rinse thoroughly. Do not wring out, but squeeze gently until all the water is out. Place in a clean pillow slip and hang the slip on the line, preferably in the sunshine.

Dear Miss Smart: I have a beautiful fern which is in danger of being killed by a housewife. I have tried several remedies, but nothing seems to help. Can you suggest anything? HOUSEWIFE.

Spray the fern with tobacco water made by pouring hot water over tobacco leaves or fine cut tobacco. Let stand until cold, strain and use. This remedy is effective for fern lice and aphids of any kind which infest growing things.

Dear Miss Smart: I am a young girl of 20 years and work in an office. My father objects to cosmetics and will not allow my sister and me to even use powder. He claims it is not right. Is it fair for him to forbid this? MARY ANN.

Possibly your father objects to the manner in which you and your sister use powder. He may have seen you when you were using too much powder, making yourselves conspicuous. An overabundance of face powder, rouge and lipstick shows a lack of good taste and good breeding. Yes, he is rather unreasonable in forbidding it altogether.

Keep Pace With Evolution

DARWIN declared that the human race was merely an evolution of the monkey tribe. Some people agree with him. Others do not.

But there is no denying that even within the memory of most of us, there has been considerable of an evolution in the human mode of living. And today, this evolution is buzzing along faster than ever. There has never been a time when conditions changed so rapidly—when life bettered itself so consistently. New comforts and conveniences are coming in all the time. And the rapidity with which they are invented and put before us vitally affects us all.

To take advantage of these things, you must keep yourself informed. You must know not only what they are, but also how much they cost and where and how to get them.

The only way you can know this is to be a regular reader of the advertisements.

Advertisements tell of all that the world is doing to make you more comfortable, your work easier, your methods better, your clothing and food problems less irksome. They tell you how you can save time—and effort—and money in the selection of the things that make life worth while.

Advertisements are interesting, instructive and highly profitable to you.

Keep in touch with modern evolution by reading the advertisements.

"And that fine lady who you off in her cabriolet?"
"Is she to you?"
"Of sister," said he.
"Of sister!" She was interested. "Harlequin foretold that I would say so; but he was amu-sant. She has a name, I suppose?"
"Yes, she has a name. She is called Alina de Kercadiou, the daughter of the Marquis de Kercadiou, Lord of the Manor."

"That's a sufficiently fine name for your sister. What sister, my friend?"
"The first time in their relation he observed and deplored the vulgarity of the shrewdness of her manner."

"That was the evening's first shock. The next came after the second act. Entering the green-room he found at the far end with Clime-ne, over whom he was bending from his fine height, his eyes intent upon her face, M. de La Tour d'Azyr."

"That night there were high words between Andre-Louis and Clime-ne, the high words proceeding from Clime-ne. When Andre-Louis again enjoined prudence upon his betrothed, she shocked and stunned him by her virulently shrewd tone, and her still more unexpected force of invective."

"I'll not tolerate your insensate jealousy. A girl in the theater must make it her business to accept homage from all."
"Agreed; and there is no harm provided she gives nothing in exchange."
"White-faced, with flaming eyes, she turned on him at that."
"How? You dare?"
"I know M. de La Tour d'Azyr," he answered her. "He is a man who takes what he wants wherever he finds it and whether it is given willingly or not; a man who reckons nothing of the misery he scatters on his self-indulgent way. Ponder it, Clime-ne, and ask yourself if I do you less than honor in warning you."

"He went out on that, feeling a degradation in continuing the subject."
On Tuesday of the following week, Andre-Louis ran into a slightly built, sallow-complexioned gentleman very neatly dressed in black.
"Moreau! Where the devil have you been hiding yourself these months?"
It was Le Chapelier, the lawyer, the leader of the Literary Chamber of Refrains. Without halting for reply, he continued: "You are the man we have been seeking everywhere, and—behold!—you drop from the skies into my path."
"They crossed the square and entered the cafe."

"I suppose you haven't heard of the royal order for the convocation of the States General, or the terms of them—that we are to have what we demanded, what you demanded for us here in Nantes! You haven't heard of the fresh uproar in Rennes, last month. The order was that the three estates should sit together at the States General but in Rennes the nobles took up arms, headed by

It was that brought forcibly mind the self-imposed but by self-forgotten mission that he had his own. He had boasted

"It is odd," said Andre-Louis,
"that I should never perceive that Nantes is being politically active."
That night at the theater he had a mischievous impulse to test what Le Chapelier had told him of the state of public feeling in the city.
They were playing "The Terrible Captain," in the last act of which the empty cowardice of the bullying braggart Rhodome is revealed by Scaramouche.

After the laughter which the ex-posure of the roaring captain invariably produced, it remained for Scaramouche contemptuously to dismiss him in a phrase that varied nightly. This time he chose to give his phrase a political complexion:
"Thus, O coward, is your emptiness exposed. Because of your long length and your great sword people have imagined you to be as terrible and as formidable as you insolently make yourself appear. But at the first touch of true spirit you crumple up, you tremble, you whine pitifully, and the great sword remains in your scabbard. You remind me of the Privileged Orders when confronted by the Third Estate."

It was audacious of him, and he was prepared for anything—a laugh, applause, indignation, or all together. But he was not prepared for what came. And it came so suddenly and spontaneously from the groundlings and the body of those in the amphitheater that he was almost scared by it—as a boy may be scared who has held a match to a —scorched haystack. It was a hurricane of furious applause. Men leapt to their feet, sprang up on the benches, waving their hats in the air, deafening him with the terrific uproar of their acclamations. And it rolled on and on, nor ceased until the curtain fell.

B. RABBIT TREATS TWINS AND JOINS IN THE HUNT

By OLIVE ROBERTS BARTON

"My, my, Ben. Look who Nancy and Nick looked and looked for Mr. Peerbout, the Man-in-the-Moon, but he wasn't anywhere to be found."
Old Comet-Legs had pushed himself off the Moon so he could be Moon-
Man in his place.
By then by they came to the place
Ben Bunny lived with his wife, Blossom, and tapped on the door.
"My, my, Ben, look who's here!"
cried Blossom, when she'd wiped her hands on her apron and shaken herself.
Ben came lopping up, bowing and scrapping and wiggling his ears joyfully.
"Just in time for lunch, my dears."
said he. "And say, that Blossom here is some cook."
Mrs. Blossom blushed on her pink nose and looked proudly at her husband.

"Yes, but I've a good provider," she declared. "Ben brings home the nicest things."
"Depends upon the time of year,"
my dears," said Ben importantly.
"Lettuce and radish tops and new-pea shoots are at their best just now. Um yum! Blossom can make a salad that would melt in your mouth. "But there, come in and find out for yourselves."
Ben bowed them in and sat chairs and Blossom brought in the food.
That was the time for the Twins to tell how they wished they could find poor old Peerbout and take him home.
"Say," said Ben suddenly. "I saw a stranger today! Ragged as a beggar, too, as you say the Moon-Man is. He was standing in the cornfield right beside Farmer Smith's saw-patch garden."
"Oh, will you show us where he

When Baby Complains.

THERE ARE MANY WAYS a baby has of expressing any pain or irregularity. or digression from its normal condition of health and happiness. A short sharp cry, a prolonged irritated cry. Restlessness, a constant turning of the head or of the whole body, fretful. In these and other ways a baby tells you there is something wrong. Most mothers know that a disordered stomach, or bowels that do not act naturally are the cause of most of baby's sufferings. A call for the doctor is the first thought, but in the event of any delay there should be ready at hand a safe remedy such as Fletcher's Castoria.

Castoria has been used for baby's ailments for over 30 years and has merited the good will of the family physician in a measure not equaled by any other baby's medicine because of its harmlessness and the good results achieved.

And remember this: Castoria is essentially a baby's remedy and not a cure-all for every member of the family. What might help you is too often dangerous when given to a babe.

Children Cry For Fletcher's CASTORIA

Let's Think It Over.

There is such a thing as saying too much on any subject, and the "grand-stand" talker sooner or later becomes a bore. The truth is always welcomed, and the truth reiterated and confirmed is more than welcome—it reaches your innermost soul.

Fletcher's Castoria is all its advertising has claimed for it.
Scrutinized by the microscope of public opinion and used for over thirty years; it stands without a peer in the hearts of thoughtful, cautious, discerning Mothers. And once used, mother love—there is no substitute for mother love—will scorn to try a "substitute" or a "just-as-good".

Masquerading under many names drugs that are injurious to the tender babe have found their way into some households, but the light of experience soon casts them out. Are they cast out before it is too late?
MOTHERS SHOULD READ THE BOOKLET THAT IS AROUND EVERY BOTTLE OF FLETCHER'S CASTORIA.

To a bit of cream tonight?
"I won't have time, me dapper youth,
'Tisn't a fight!"

Walter Hagen's ovation in New York upon his return from England with the British open golf title was unrivaled for enthusiasm.

Kilcubbin, an Irish bred horse, won the President of the Republic stakes at St. Cloud, France.

Bill Tilden, world's tennis champion, defeated Walter Haves in the finals of the Illinois state tennis championship. Scores were 6-3, 6-3 and 6-3.

Kenneth Williams' 20th homerun of the season in a game with the Cleveland Indians at St. Louis yesterday scored Sisler and McManus ahead of him.

Connecticut followed lead of the New York boxing commission by declaring the titles of Johnny Kilbane, featherweight champ, and Johnny Wilson, middleweight titleholder, are unrecognized.

"Cactus" Keck, rookie with the Cincinnati Reds, is not winning as regularly as he did when he started working several months ago. Other clubs are getting next to his style.

STAGE SET FOR BOXING CLASSIC TOMORROW

PUGS ARE ON DECK

Lima will be Mecca for a huge contingent of fight fans Tuesday and according to advance estimates 5,000 persons will jam into Murphy-st. park to see Jake Gross and Babe Bream, Lima's two foremost ring contenders, fight for supremacy.

Preparations at the ball park were completed and the only uncertainty—a big one—is how the weather man feels about it. He is an uncertain fellow, but it is believed this time he will be a good sport and fight fan by holding off. The players of the promoters are couched in fervent phrases. They have protection to some degree at least with rain insurance.

A thousand or more fans bade farewell to Jake Gross, Young Jamaica, Red Young and Johnny Andrews Sunday afternoon after watching them steam thru several rounds apiece at the park before the ball game. The boys left soon after and their whereabouts are unknown. Nothing more will be seen of them until they re-appear in the ring.

Babe Bream was seen for a few minutes yesterday prior to dropping out of sight for a rest. The featherweight looks great and seems to have taken on barrels of confidence under the superior tutelage of Leo Patterson.

"I am confident I will whip Gross. My punching and footwork has picked up since I began working out at Lakeview and I feel that I can outpoint him by a wide margin. I do not knock him out. If either of us score a kayo it will be in an early round," Bream says.

"I will beat Bream. I am not underestimating his ability, for I know he can put up a strong fight, but he will have to jump some stand up under the punches I'm going to send over. The fight may go the limit of 12 rounds, but I am inclined to doubt it. Look out, that's all I have to say," Gross declared.

OPINIONS EVEN
It would be difficult to say who is the favorite, judging by expressions heard among the fans. The camps are evenly divided and they have arranged their accommodations in such a manner that the supporters for each will be grouped.

All fighters who will participate are in the city. Pat Carney, the tough Toledo sucker who fights Red Young in a ten-round semi-windup. Looks like Len Peterson, opponent of Young Jamaica in the other ten-round semi-windup, looks equally as good. Young Al Dundee, Mansfield bantamweight, appears in great shape for the opener with Jimmy Andrews in six frames.

MARSHALLS THUMP DON ROHE HARD

R. A. Marshall baseball club gave Ottawa a severe drubbing on its own field yesterday, overwhelming them by a 9-2 score.

The feature of the pastime was the fact that Don Rohe, twirled for Ottawa. Rohe, an Appalachian leaguer, hom on a furlough, was given a warm reception. He was touched up for 14 bingles.

Minor King was in remarkable form for the Marshalls, allowing but four hits and striking out 18.

Johnny Phillips caught a beautiful game. Manager Leo V. Ayers says his boys have hit their stride and now are ready to take on any club in Northwestern Ohio. Score: Marshalls 9, Ottawa 2.

RUTH CRACKS 12TH HOMER, REDS, INDIANS LOSE

NEW YORK.—Apparently spurred to greater exploits by a sudden spurt on the part of Babe Ruth, home run slingers of both leagues fattened their totals in a week-end that reverberated with circuit blows.

Ruth hammered out his fourth homer in three games and his twelfth of the season yesterday while the Yankees were taking their fourth straight from Philadelphia 9 to 3.

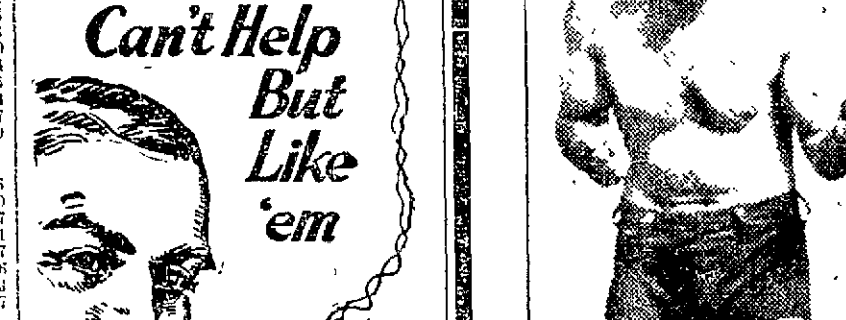

Tillie Walker cracked out a brace of circuit blows, making his total four in the last two games and bringing his season's total to 17, only three behind Ken Williams of St. Louis, the leader. Williams walloped out his twelfth homer yesterday and helped the Browns take their fourth in a row from Cleveland.

GAIN ON GIANTS

St. Louis and Brooklyn each gained a full game on the Giants in the National League race as a result of double victories over Cincinnati and Boston respectively while the leaders were idle. Rogers Hornsby of the Cardinals failed to increase his home run total after having registered his eighteenth Saturday. Zach Wheat aided the Dodgers in the second game with his tenth circuit pike.

The Detroit Tigers recovered their batting eyes and checked Chicago's winning streak of eight games, trouncing the White Sox 12 to 6. Walter Johnson's shutout streak which had lasted for three games was ended when the Red Sox beat

RUMOR DEMPSEY KEARNS SPLIT

Rumors again have Jack Dempsey and his manager, Jack Kearns, at the parting of the ways.

Friends close to both admit that the same old feeling might not exist between the pair, but no one believes that they will split.

Kearns made Dempsey and the champion knows it. Other managers might have done the same thing, but they couldn't have made a better job of it than Kearns did.

It takes a lot of nerve to go in the ring and of the thing but it also takes a lot of courage to step out with a straight face and demand $500,000 for a fight.

With the fans demanding a show down from Dempsey on the Will proposition, Kearns replies by announcing that he has signed the champ for three fights—with Brennan, Willard and Greb.

He sheds further illumination on his business sagacity by announcing that he is going to get $250,000 for each fight.

Meanwhile the Dempsey household can say, "we're all booked up and busy, Mr. Will. Come back again!"

The same argument will be a good comeback when the New York Commission asks Dempsey to fight Willis or vacate.

ROWLANDS LOSE TO KENTON REDS

Lima Rowlands dropped a tough 4-3 contest to the Reds at Kenton yesterday. The locals played a strong game against the Hardin-co line, but could not hit the pitching by Legerell, who struck out ten.

Conrad was the star of the local outfit in the field, pulling down seven flies. Stahl, the new shortstop, collected two three-baggers and a single. Ruff twirled a neat game for the Rowlands. Shlider caught. Score: Rowlands..... 3 0 0 1 0 0 0 0 0 3 Kenton..... 4 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 4

NO BUSINESS LOOP GAMES SCHEDULED

Business Men's league teams will rest up until July 11 unless the four managers decide to stage one or both of the two postponed games on the schedule this week. The Rotary club is still two games behind its contest with the Kiwanis. May 18 and the one May 25 with the Lions having been set back because of rain.

It is probable the Kiwanis-Rote game may be staged Thursday afternoon in which event there will be a death struggle between the old rivals. The Rotes lead with a percentage of .667 and the Kiwanians are in second. Should the latter win they would lead by a full game.

The Lions meet the Elks July 11 and a Rotary-Kiwanis setto is slated July 13.

STAGE SET FOR BOXING CLASSIC TOMORROW

PUGS ARE ON DECK

Lima will be Mecca for a huge contingent of fight fans Tuesday and according to advance estimates 2,000 persons will jam into Murphy-st. park to see Jake Gross and Babe Bream, Lima's two foremost ring contenders, fight for supremacy.

Preparations at the ball park were completed and the only uncertainty—a big one—is how the weather man feels about it. He's an uncertain fellow, but it is believed this time he will be a good sport and fight fan by holding off. The players of the promoters are couched in fervent phrases. They have posterion to some degree at least with rain insurance.

A thousand or more fans bade farewell to Jake Gross, Young Jamaica, Red Young and Johnny Andrews Sunday afternoon after watching them steam thru several rounds apiece at the park before the ball game. The boys left soon after and their whereabouts are unknown. Nothing more will be seen of them until they reappear in the ring.

Like Bream was seen for a few minutes yesterday prior to dropping out of sight for a rest. The featherweight looks great and seems to have taken on barrels of confidence under the superior tutelage of Leo Patterson.

"I am confident I will whip Gross. My punching and footwork has picked up since I began working out at Lakeview and I feel that I can outpoint him by a wide margin. I do not know him out. If either of us score a knock out it will be in an early round," Bream says.

"I will beat Bream. I am not underestimating his ability, for I know he can put up a strong fight, but he will have to jump home to stand up under the punches I'm going to send over. The fight may go the limit of 12 rounds, but I am inclined to doubt it. Look out, that's all I have to say," Gross declared.

It would be difficult to say who is the favorite, judging by expressions heard among the fans. The camps are evenly divided and they have arranged their accommodations in such a manner that the supporters for each will be grouped.

All fighters who will participate are in the city. Pat Carney, the tough Toledo boxer who fights Red Young in a ten-round semi-windup, looks great. Leo Patterson, opponent of Young Jamaica in the other ten-round semi-windup, looks equally as good. Young Al Dundee, Mansfield bantamweight, appears in great shape for the opener with Jimmy Andrews in six frames.

LIMA LOSES GAME TO HOUSE OF DAVID

BEFORE a huge crowd at Murphy-st park Sunday afternoon the House of David ball club demonstrated how it has come to be recognized as one of the most formidable independent aggregations in the country. The bewhiskered diamond stars from the shores of Lake Michigan played rings around the Independents and 13 to 4. The crowd was estimated at 2,000.

The crowd overflowed onto the field and a number of ground rules had to be made because of the people along the baselines and against the right field fence. Curiosity of the fans was satisfied to some extent. They did see long beards and thatches of hair, but the most luxuriant chin sprouts were boasted by men who did not get into the game.

Hitting honors were even. Each team got 11, but the visitors were more clever in ripping them off at opportune moments. They took full advantage of an "off day" some of the locals were suffering.

Main started in the box for Lima and got along fairly well for seven innings. George Dodd, a Memphis Southern leaguer, relieved him in the eighth and fared worse. He didn't show much except a fast breaking curve he couldn't control. The Independents would have looked bad on the field had it not been for the brilliant work of Danny O'Connell at the bat and in the field, catching of "Dutch" Mander and infield work of Harold Bible.

O'Connell hit safely four times in five tries. One bingle was a double. He pulled a circus catch of a long fly in the eighth that was ticked for three bases going almost to the center field fence to pull it down. Bible went over from short to second several times and scooped difficult ground balls. He did not look good at bat, striking out twice.

The visitors felt out Main for an inning and started laying on the ball in the second, doubles by Falls and Banahka producing a run. Two doubles and a single by the heavy men of the House of David batting order, coupled with two passes, gave them four in the third.

HEADWORK BRINGS RUN

"Dutch" Mander's headwork gave the Independents their first score in the third. After singling and being set down he perpetrated a clean theft of home on an infield knock by Galberach. Scoring then seemed until the eighth, when it became an exclusive House of David affair.

With two down in the eighth Andrews shot a double to center. Falls walked. Nichols errored on Fally's tap, the catcher scoring. Gilbert's hit shoved Falls and Fally across. A fly to right ended the frame after Banahka was safe on an error and Fally walked.

The Independents led off with a pair of hits in the ninth, but the next three men were easy outs.

The House of David is one of the most gentlemanly baseball outfits ever seen here. No decisions by the umpires were disputed and the
